THE PASTOR NATHAN TUFF SACRED RAIN GARDEN NEWS

Blooming season is winding down as autumn approaches. So why are there "dead" plants still standing in the rain garden? Leaving native plants over the winter is crucial for providing habitat and food for wildlife, enriching the soil, and protecting the plants themselves. One great example of a plant that is still standing in the garden is the swamp milkweed. As monarchs make their way south, they seek out this plant for food and shelter. Another example of beneficial native plants are coneflower and black-eyed Susan. The dried seeds of these native plants are a nutritious source of food for a variety of birds over the winter. For questions, or to volunteer next spring to help with the garden, please contact Amy Dixon at amydixon436@gmail.com or 419-467-6356.

OPERATION CHRISTMAS CHILD SHOEBOX

Currently we are doing the annual collection of boxes that will be shipped abroad to children. Grab a flyer and/or a box, fill it with goodies per the flyer and return it before Nov. 16, the day they will be blessed at worship before shipping.

TOILET PAPER DONATIONS NEEDED

So far this year, over 1600 rolls of toilet paper have been delivered to Redeemer Lutheran Church to help them provide basic necessities to the communities they serve. Toilet paper donations are still greatly needed, and can be left beneath the large outhouse posters outside both the Christian Life Center and sanctuary. Thank you!
